A Guide to Achieving New Heights: the Four Pillars of Successful Nonprofit Leadership Dec 09 2020 "Anybody who manages or sits on the board of a nonprofit organization will find great insight in this book on the four pillars of leadership. " John McIlquham, President, NPT Publishing Group, Inc. Does your nonprofit organization suffer from a non-profit mentality? Are you too preoccupied with daily challenges to focus on your mission, build your vision, nurture relationships with constituents, and last but not least create a positive operating margin? Dennis C. Miller has solutions for nonprofit organizations that know they must up their game in a world where they are competing with profit-driven institutions for limited talent and resources. Miller brings the nonprofit sector squarely into the 21st century and points the way forward, showing those who run or work for nonprofits: Why much more emphasis should be placed on training and on rewarding high performing employees. How all nonprofits must periodically reevaluate their mission to see if it is ambitious enough or perhaps too ambitious. Why measuring and then communicating success can enhance fundraising. How establishing your brand is as crucial for nonprofits as it is for the Fortune 500. Why you must think of your organization as if it had a stock price that can rise or fall. Often, people don't realize the potential for taking their nonprofit organization to new heights. But by the end of reading Miller's guide they will learn to soar. They will be able to create a more positive image and a greater demand for their services, have more people wanting to become employees, board members and volunteers, achieve recognition for excellence in their field, and see an increase in donors and dollars.

A Sicilian Guide for Success Dec 21 2021 After a long, successful career and personal life, I felt it was time I step up to the plate and share what I have learned. We are a society that is crying out for help in our social lives and our offices. Just look around. Leaders in the business world are scrambling to find out how to motivate themselves and others, and so many people have no idea how to achieve success in their homes. What happened to traditional values and self-starters? It used to be that we were willing to make the necessary sacrifices to achieve our goals and objectives. But in today's world where too many are living on a diet of reality television, it is interesting that most people can't be real with themselves. I believe we should be setting examples for our young executives and our families to go forward righteously with honesty, integrity, and loyalty. We should lead by example and impress upon them the importance of being smart and willing to work while keeping the right attitude. This is what I think we are lacking. With this guide I want to share my traditional values and what life has taught me about how to be better in the business world and at home. The recommendations and approaches I talk about in these chapters are simple and anyone can make them at any time. It is never too late or too early to get started.
