How to Care for and Train Your Dog Dec 10 2020 Hirsh Marantz has owned and trained dogs for the past 52 years. His last two dogs have been rescued greyhounds, one of whom he still has. His dogs have earned Companion Dog Excellent (CDX) Titles both in The United States and Canada and a U.S. Utility Dog (UD) Title. Although he has done some private dog training, his main pursuit is teaching dog training. He believes that training a dog is best done by the dog owner, with the exception of some of the more serious aggression or "separation anxiety" problems that may require a professional animal behaviorist. It is his hope that this book and books like it, will decrease the number of abandoned dogs, and dogs given to shelters because the owners "didn't like them anymore." This book attempts to provide you, whether you already own a dog or are thinking of getting a dog, the information on dog selection, care and training, needed to have the ideal dog for your family. Having a dog as part of your family can be a wonderful experience. Your dog can be a loyal faithful companion, giving you unconditional love. Unlike some people, your dog is incapable of holding a grudge, being spiteful or vengeful. Your dog can keep you from being lonely, and can comfort you when you're sad. Having a dog can even lower your blood pressure. All your dog wants from you for all of this, aside from food and water, is a little attention and a pat on his head or a scratch behind his ear. There is a caveat, however, for receiving all this love from your dog. Your dog has to know, through your actions, that you are the Alpha or leader (the boss). Although your dog may challenge your authority at first, he will be happy and feel secure if he has a reliable leader. Your dog also has to be trained in basic obedience to give you complete control over his actions and to make it easier for you to prevent or cure any bad habits to which your dog may be predisposed. A trained dog is a happy dog and has a happy owner. This book will give you the information you will need to choose the perfect puppy or dog, ensure you are the Alpha, train your dog, and care for the health of your dog, all in step-by-step procedures.

Training the Hard-to-Train Dog takes a practical approach to the subject of dog training with step-by-step "power training" techniques that teach you how to be a firm yet fair leader to your dog. This expertly written guide describes how to build on basic training techniques to regain control of a dog and help solve problem behaviors like housetraining issues, barking, growling, and biting. Case studies covering many different breeds reveal the inherited traits that make certain breeds harder to train, like herding breeds, guarding breeds, husky types, and terriers. You want to know the Easy Part first. Confused? Don't be. Walk with me: The Major Key to Training Your Jack Russell Terrier is: How to Communicate Like a Jack Russell Terrier. In order to communicate with anyone, you both need to be thinking in the same language. Once you got that down, all the hurdles drop out of sight while your training goals appear in place of them, making the dog training experience seemingly effortlessly in comparison. Thinking alike comes first, then follows communication. So what exactly is thinking? When thinking to ourselves, we ask ourselves questions and answer them in our head. That is what 'thinking is'. Communicating is simply thinking out loud with others by asking and answering questions with them as the Icebreaker to understanding one another. This thinking and then the communication thing we do together as humans, Is simple to us. Humans can communicate with other humans easily and without consciously trying to speak correctly. It is natural. Even so, if one human does not speak the other human's language, frustration overrides the process, difficulties loom larger and success is now unattainable. Thinking like a human while speaking to a dog who is thinking like a dog, well, there's today's challenge. It is the gap that between you and your Jack Russell Terrier success, that which must be adjoined first in mutual understanding. Quickest way; is to learn your dog's language first. Asking him to learn English first will never work because you will be asking him in human English which he does not understand to begin with. Dogs are not nearly as complex in the head as we humans are. And this is why we must give-in to learning their language first. Question is now: How to speak in Jack Russell Terrier? Answer: It is called 'Dogmanship' Dogmanship is the human ability to effectively communicate with your dog, by learning his language, and how he thinks, reacts and communicates with other dogs. Using this ability to communicate in the way your dog understands you fully to effectively train your dog in the easiest, quickest most wonderful life changing ways imaginable. Plus, I decided to throw in for free, my "New Dog Times Jump Start Training" guide. This is a powerful success shortcut that offers insights, tools, advice unmatched in a dog training book.
